A.M. Feeding:

Your dog's morning meal is simply a 6-8 oz. serving of raw chicken. That might be 1 thigh or several necks and or backs.

Veggie Mix: Shake well before pouring over meal.

This is made once a week and refrigerated. Veggies are steamed lightly then blended. Add water to a milkshake consistency.

Add all supplements listed below.

1 yam or sweet potato

1 apple 6 carrots

8,1000mg vitamin C tablets or capsules, 8-10 1000mg. fish oil gel caps, 8-10 flax oil gel caps, 6 tsp. each of alfalfa and kelp powder

Recreational Bones:

Raw meaty bones are a needed source for calcium and are given daily. Including these raw bones in your dog's diet also will help maintain a lifetime of good dental health. Any bones are acceptable, as long as they are fed raw. Cooked bones of any kind, should never be fed.
